They Also Surrender Fifth Place to the Chirages, Who Win a Fourteen Inning Game from the Brooklyns-Baltimores Easily Outplay the Clevelands - Other News. The New Yorks played two games at Washington yesterday and broke even, winning the first and losing the second. They also handed fifth place over to the Chicagos, who proved victorious in a fourteen inning game with the Brooklyns. As the Windy City players begin a series of three games with the New Yorks at the Pole Grounds to-day, the ownership of fifth and sixth notches will be temporarily desided. The Baltimores won rather easily from the Clevelands, who are still quite a distance ahead of them. The results:

NEW YORE, C; WASHINGTON, 3—FIRST GAME.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The Senators and New Yorks played a double-header to-day, and account of the senators were even. Cy Seymour hypnotized the locale with his many assortment of curves. Cy pitched eccentric ball, but buckled down to effective work when the bases were occupied. He gave nine bases on balls and has a record of nine strike-outs to his credit. Both teams played sharp ball in the field, and Dineen was hit freely by the visitors. Jack Doyle received a great reception from the fans in the stands and bleacheries. He was the butt for a chorus of hoots and hisses throughout the two games. Out of eight times at the bat he failed to make a hit, and when he struck out in the eighth inning of the first game the bleachers arose and discharged a chorus of groans at the defenceless player. Serappy Joyce ordered Mike Grady to the bench in the second inning of the first game. of sleepiness that overcame Mike while on the bases.

The second game went to Washington because the visitors failed to negotiate for opportune hits off Killen, the Jeft-hander recently released by Pittsburg. It was Killen's first appearance as a Senator this season. He was on Earl Wagner's staff in 1892, and his appearance to-day was scarcely his debut as Senator. The Senators won the second game by bunching a block of five hits in the third inning for a total of eight bases. These safeties, coupled with two bases on balls, gave five runs and the game. An unusual play areas in the fifth inning of the closing game. With Anderson on second, Farrell shot a grounder to Hartman, who threw to catch andy off second: Farrell kept on to second and Andy returned to the base, but his ignorance of the rules of the game caught him in a farcical fix. Instead of remaining on the base becauntered awar. Gleason touched Farrell and then laid the ball on the fat-witted Swede, completing one of the strangest double plays of the season. A lively fourteen-inning game was played at Washington Park yesterday afternoon. The 1.700 spectators who took chances on the weather were hopeful that two games would be 1.700 spectators who took chances on the weather were hopeful that two games would be played, but there was very little grumbling when Umpire Swartwood announced that the second game was declared off on account of the rain, which was coming down rather heavily. Both Dunn and Wood pitched well enough to win an ordinary game in a walk. The Chicago pitcher, however, had somewhat the best of it, as he was not as free in sending men to first base on called balls. The visitors got two runs in the fourth on a base on balls, two bunts, and Connor's safe bounder to centre field. In the same inning Jones cracked out a two-basger and tallied on Magoon's timely hit, with two men out. The Brooklyns tied the score in the eighth inning to pick up the ball, fell to the ground. While still down he threw to Everit, but the ball went over the first baseman's head, and Dunn got around to third, scoring a moment later when Griffin hit a pretty liner over Dahlen's head. When the fourteenth inning opened the rain was failing heavily, and there was little prospect that the game would be finished. Mertes started with a safe bounder, and Connor beat out a bunt. Donahue also bunted and reached first, filling the bases. Wood, in trying to sacrifice, sent a low bounder to Dunn, who allowed the ball to get past him, and before Hallman could make the play Mertes ran across the plate with the winning run. The

WRESTLING ON THE BOWERY.

The "Horrible Jew" and the "Terrible Greek" Not Able to Gain a Fall The "Horrible Jew" and the "Terrible Freek" had a wrestling bout at the Windsor

Theatre on the Bowery last night. Such a motley crowd of sports probably never graced this old-time playhouse before. The "Horrible Jew." before his meteoric flight to fame was known about the Bowery as Charleys Miller, the "Barnacle," while the "Terrible Greek" rejoices in the cognomen of Heraklides. The latter was first unearther by Charley White, and what he does not know about wreatling would fill the biggest kind of a book. He simply has strength, and that is all. Miller and Heraklides wrestled for twentyfive minutes and fifteen minutes respectively. with an intermission. Neither was able to even turn the other around, and when the match was over the crowd seemed to be relieved.

Harry Harris and Joe Linn, both of this city, opened the show with a bout at Greece-Roman style. Each was muscular and weighed about 140 pounds. They seemed to know considerable about the game, Harris securing a fall in four minutes. Although the agreement called for the best two out of three falls, Linn refused to proceed further and Harris got the decision. Frank Francis and Leo Pardelli, called the "Italian champion," were the next to appear. Pardelli has quite a reputation as a wrestler and boxer, having fought draws about four or five years ago with Dan Croedon and the "Harlem Coffee Cooler." Fardelli undertook to throw Francis twice in twenty minutes or forfeit the match. The former was in poor shape. The style was catch-as-catch-can. Francis was as alippery as an eel and Fardelli had to work like a beaver to get a firm hold on his rival. He threw his man in six minutes. Pardelli was apparently worn out from his own exertions, for he could not down Francis. The latter stayed the time limit and won the bout. His friends, who swarmed in the gallery, cheered lustily, and Francis walked off the stage as proud as a peacock.

A young man with a dignified stride who did the announcing came forward at this juncture and told the audience that Joe Goldstein, the "Pride of the East Side," was ready to carry out his match with Kid Lester of Coney Island, but that there was some misunderstanding as to the division of the purse. "Mr. Goldstein," said the announcer with a wave of his right hand, "is here, loidies an' gentlemen, an' will, loidies, make a few remarks!" Then Goldstein "said the announcer with a wave of his right hand, "is here, loidies an' gentlemen, an' will, loidies, make a few remarks!" Then Goldstein "Leddies an' gentlemen, an' will, loidies, make a few remarks!" Then Goldstein "Leddies an' gen' man, I came here, see, t' wristle, an' I wants t' meet me man, see! But w'en de guy doesn't fill de bill, see, I can't help it, see! Hully gee!" 140 pounds. They seemed to know consider able about the game, Harris securing a fall it

TEN EYCK WINS AND LOSES. Rough Water Upsets the Form at Toronte

Regatta. TORONTO, Aug. 11.-The second and last day of the Northwestern Amateur Rowing Association's regatta provided good sport for a large crowd here to-day, although the south wind which has prevailed all week was dead against the rowers, making the water rough and the time slow. E. A. Thompson's boat swamped in the second heat of the senior singles, and Cresser turned the wrong buoy. In the double sculls Ten Eyck and Lewis rowed along with their boat filling with water. They just managed to cross the finish line when the craft turned over. They were beaten by Harris and Warner of Detroit. The championships go with to-day's results. To-morrow cance racing and swimming matches take place, and on Satur-day the yachts spread their sails outside the island. Summaries:

After The Bouncer and Galahad made the running to the stretch, Ethelbert came through and won easily from Ways and Means, with Satirist in third place. Ways and Means got away last at the start and Satirist was interfered with when

The former came through in the stretch and won easily by two lengths from Lord Zeni. In the second race Turvey Drop led from start to finish and won easily by half a length. Flax Spinner was the choice in the third race, and he won by a length and a half. Danny Maher made his appearance here to-day and rode one winner and two seconds out of three mounts. Summary:

C. F. Bates and R. F. Carman Capture Most of the Ribbons and Money.

LONG BRANCH, Aug. 11.-The first of the three days' exhibition of the fifth annual horse show of the Monmouth County Association opened this afternoon at Hollywood Park. The weather was uninviting, but society was well represented. The severe storm of resterday played havon with the course. The exhibits were up to pre vious standards, but the soft track interfered with the showing of the horses.

There were two mishaps in the jumping class, and they caused the only excitement of the day. James Blute, riding George J. Gould's Irish Boy, had a bad fall when taking the fourth fonce, but luckily escaped injury. The rider of Henry L. Blum's Ruby was also thrown. Charles F. Bates and Richard F. Carman carried off most of the honors. The former won three first prizes and two seconds, while Carman took two blue ribbons and three second prizes. Dr. George S. TROTTING AND PACING.

Eleven Heats at Fort Wayne Average Better Than 2:09.

FORT WAYNE, Aug. 11.-This was Fort Wayne's day at the races, and the largest crowd of the week saw a local favorite win a pretty contest The stand, the paddocks and the book and pool rooms were crowded. Frank Bogash, a horse ored in this city and trained here, was the special attraction. Although the talent backed Bumps against Bogash at the rate of 25 to 10. Bogash money was always on hand. In the 2:14 pace Annie Lee was an alternating favorite with Argretta. Belwood A. had no difficulty in outfooting Annie Lee in the stretch in the first with Argretta. Belwood A had no difficulty in outfooting Annie Lee in the stretch in the first heat, but after that Argretta won in pretty finishes, as every horse was out for the largest money. In the 2:10 trot Tommy Britton and Pilot Boy were on even terms in the betting. Geers had to resort to some good generalship to land his Village Farm charge a winner, but he was successful in straight heats.

The third race was the event of the day. When Starter Walker ordered the horses to score for the word they came down in a pretty bunch and were sent away at a fast clip. Bogash kept the pole all the way around and set a pace to the wire which Bumps could not beat. The local enthusiasts cheered their favorite lustily. In the second hear Bumps passed Bogash at the quarter pole and led the procession into the stretch. Bogash came up from the rear, and in a clever burst of speed 100 yards from the stand out-footed Bumps and won the fastest heat of the meeting by a neck. In the third heat Bumps and Bogash fought neck and neck all the way around. Near the finish Ananias, that had not been considered in the race, was piloted around on the outside and won the heat. Bogash had no trouble in finishing ahead in the last heat after a beautiful performance down the stretch. The average of the eleven heats of the day was less than 2.00. Summaries:

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN.

EDDIE BALD WINS A CHAMPIONSHIP AND ALSO BREAKS A RECORD. Great American Handleap at the National Meet Won by Costello, an Amateur Until Yesterday-Martin Runs Off Track and

Brings Down Gardiner and Stevens, Indianapolis, Aug. 11.-For the second time in his extensive cycling career Eddie Bald to-day secured a national championship at a national L. A. W. meet. He came away empty handed from Denver, secred at Asbury Park and met with misfortune at both Louisville and Philadelphia. His honors of the last three seasons were obtained upon the general showing for the entire year, and not at the League's big gathering. His win in the half-mile cham-plouship this afternoon bore no flaw, and he finished in front because he had more speed than any of the others who appeared in the

Again in the great American handicap today Bald demonstrated the fact that he is moving at a record-breaking gait. He took his heat in 4 minutes 15 2-5 seconds, and in the final ran just outside the money in 4 minutes. seconds, making a new record from the back mark in a handleap. This event entitled the winner to $500, and the lucky one was Frank Costello, a St. Louis amuteur, who became a money-chaser to-day for the first time. The handicapping trio treated him liberally with 250 yards, and to this he owes his victory. Assisted by Maya, 250, and Hall, 275, Costello easily kept away from the rear brigade, which never got within hall until the turn into the straight at the finish. A disastrous spill marked the second heat of this ruce, when "Plugger Bill" Martin ran off the edge of the track right at the finish and brought down Gardiner, who was so badly shaken up that he had to be excused from the final, and Earl Stevens, who went into the air and fell yards away. Martin was dazed, but recovered before the final, in which he ran across the line just in front of Bald.

It was with one of the rushes that made him champion for three years that Rald secred in the half-mile championship. In the final, the line-up, besides Bald, contained McFarland, Gardiner, Cooper and Freeman. The missing stars were Kimble and "Major" Taylor, the first named running in behind the colored man in the heat in which the latter failed to qualify, as this semi-final was slower than the one precedling. Cooper secured the rear wheel of the single pacemaker, who carried the bunch for a lap, and Baid was perfectly satisfied to trail his rival. Gardiner had a contention with McFarland, and getting the worst of it dropped to the extreme rear and never bettered his position. His protest was not allowed after the finish. Bald was not to be denied in the last rush and none could hold him, a length sepa-

rush and none could hold him, a length separating him from McFarland at the line. Preeman held off Cooper and Gardiner sat up yards behind. The result changed the championship score considerably and now the lenders are: Bald, 129 points: Cooper, 85; Gardiner, 73: Taylor, 69; Kimble, 69; McFarland, 54; Freeman, 44.

Again to-day did Collett show that he is king of the amateurs here. He scored his third national amateur championship by a win of the quarter-mile, scarcely a feet separating his front wheel from that of Hausman, his team mate. Kramer looked like the victor half way down the straight, but he died in the last twenty vards, and brought up the rear, Liewellyn secured third place from Schoffeld by inches.

Liewellyn secured third place from Schofield by inches.

Collett and Hausman found little difficulty in winning the tandem championship, and the crack Chicagoans, Peabody and Liewellyn, had to be satisfied with second place. Peabody took the five-mile championship, but Collett was crowded by Porter of Detroit on the upper turn for the finish and fell. Porter was disqualified for the balance of the meet. Summary:

The committee appointed to work for the es-The committee appointed to work for the es-tablishment of a cycle path over the bridge in-tends to renew its efforts. It is calculated that the cost of a single path over the cars on the west side could be kept down to considerably less than $10,000, although a larger appropria-tion might be deepned desirable when it comes less than $10,000, although a larger appropria-tion might be deemed destrable when it comes to the award of contracts. This would permit an inclined approach on the Brooklyn side, be-ginning at Liberty and High streets, to stretch over Sands street and land riders on the bridge along a grade possible for all to travel. At the Manhatan end the idea would be to use a flight of steps with a narrow strip on one side, so that riders might roll their cycles up and down by hand instead of carrying them. This is a plan of which President Shea and Engineer Martin have approved, and as the cost of it is far below the first estimate of $80,000, when some one suggested two paths and expensive clevators, it is thought that Mayor van Wyck can possibly see his way clear to approve of an appropriasuggested two paths and expensive elevators, it is thought that Mayor Van Wyek can possibly see his way clear to approve of an appropriation for the purpose. The Mayor is known to be decidedly in favor of a path for wheelmen on the big structure, and with some of the causes for the hitches that occurred in previous negotiations removed, the committeemen are taking fresh hope and courage. If the plan outlined, which is the most popular one, is urged for adoption, it might be modified at a nominal expense with regard to the laying of planks at the side of the steps on this end. This expedient is in use in many places. It makes it perhaps a little less outdensome than carrying wheels would be, but it is none the less a decidedly awkward arrangement, especially for women. Going up the stairs the wheel has to be dragged from in front or pushed from behind, and either requires almost as much exertion as carrying the machine boddiy. Boards laid on top of steps give too much elevation to the wheel. The rider cannot keep it steady in the narrow space by walking abreast of It.as the wheel. The rider cannot keep it steady in the narrow space by walking abreast of it as he should be able to do. To sink such a two-foot wide runway of this kind below the level of the steps would be a vast improvement and would cost only a trifle. Some room and expense might be saved if instead of a flat surface a V-shaped trough of proper construction was introduced.

would cost only a true. Some risin and expense might be saved if instead of a flat surface a V-shaped trough of proper construction was introduced.

An example has been set by one club of Manhattan that would be an excellent one for other organizations to follow. On the bottom of the notices of club runs which it sends out weekly to its members the Vigilant Cycle Club enjoins riders as follows: Members will please carry a nump, wrench and tire repair kit on all runs. Members not complying with this will not be allowed on club runs. Always bring your lamp. In the face of the experience that almost every rider has had, it is strange that such a stipulation should be necessary. Those who have gone out on a run with a party know how much trouble for the entire company is sometimes made by the helpless ones who have to borrow tools and make the owners wait while they use them. The lamp rule is also one that experience should make superfluous, but it is not. Many a club party has been unavoidably delayed until after nightfall, and then the ones without lamps become an embarrassment to the whole company. These rules as edicts of the capitain are eminently just, and if they were universally adopted other riders would be less troubled by meeting a 'push' of club riders at night with only one-third of them carrying lights.

Enough was seen on last Fourth of July at Berkeley Oval to make it very clear that the rivalry between the members of the Police. Fire, and Post Office departments is sharp. The races held then between the police were the best on the programme. There was a spirit in the struggle between the bluecoats that imbued the audience with unwould enthusinsm. A Brooklynite, who combines the qualities o A Brooklynite, who combines the qualities of horseman and cyclist, says that it costs him more to go out on his wheel than it does to ride behind a team. He means in the expensive-ness of the trip apart from any comparison between the cost of keeping horses and keeping cycles. Therefore he says that all talk about wheeling being an inexponsive pastime is bosh. He is a man who spends money freely and has an abundance of it. The point he makes is that on the wheel he has more provocation to spend money and receives more opportunities for so doing.

an abundance of it. The point he makes is that on the wheel he has more provocation to spend money and receives more opportunities for so doing.

Tak about it's being a cheap game, he exclaimed when discussing the subject, why, do not spend in tips as much in two trips to Coner Island behind my horses as I do in one on my wheel. It is too case, You get it when on a wheel It is too case. You get it when on a wheel It is too case. You get it when on a wheel It is too case. You get it when on a wheel it is too case. You get it when on a wheel it is too case. You get it when on a wheel it is too case. You get it when on a wheel it is too case. You get it when on a wheel it is too case. You get it was a love, and all you have to do is to get off and check your wheel, without anything like the ceremony and bother there is when you put up a rig. I get thirstier more often on a wheel and I eat more, and if I have any one with me it is the same way with them. I get back from one of your alleged cheap trips on a bieyele and I always find that I have spent about double what I do when driving. The difference is enough to keep a team of horses for a week. The tipping habit and free cycle racks are nuisances. It seems to me that it would be better for the roadhouses to charge a nominal sum like five cents and pay the boys weil. Then the house would be responsible for the wheel if stolen and rilers would not feel obliged to keep tipping when nothing is done to deserve a fee. If the boys cleaned the wheels and did something to them besides showing them in a rack it would be different. I get tired of it, that is all. I had rather give a two-dollar bill to the first boy I meet and then not have to worry about paying tribute in small change to all the others. Yes, sir, I want to see some one who has good red blood in him prove to me that beyele riding is cheap. I keep my wheels on storage, pay a bill of repairs every month, to say nothing of the lamps and bells and toe eligher that I experiment with. Every year I trade in my old

Baltimore, Aug. 11.—After having their race postponed four times by rain Jimmy Michael and Fred Titus met to-night in a fit-teen-mile paced race, which resulted in a victory for Michael after a beautiful contest. Michael rode the distance in the record-brasking time of 28 minutes 48 1-5 seconds, defeating Titus by a quarter of a mile. Although defeated Titus has nothing to be ashamed of. He rode a great race and was game to the end, but was too heavily handicapped by pacemakers. Michael was paced by two tandems and three triplets while Titus rode behind five tandems. The triplets did great work for Michael, the little Welshman gaining all his ground behind them. On several occasions Titus dropped his tandems and hung behind Michael. Michael took the lead from the start and was never headed. In the fifth mile he was half a lap in the lead and in the sixth a triplet carried him a third of a mile to the good. From this time until the ninth mile there was a loaf, then Titus made a great spurt and passed Michael, but a triplet took up Jimmy and Titus was unable to gain much headway. In the eleventh mile the Weishman again passed Titus. The latter then dropped his pacemakers and took up Michael's, which he held for nearly a mile. In the fourteenth mile Michael again lapped Titus. Although it was a forlorn hope Titus struggled gamely, and hard riding prevented Michael from again lapping him before the finish. On next Tuesday night at the Colloseum Harry Elkes, who recently defeated Tom Linton, will meet Michael in a fifteen-mile race. The summary: One-Mile Professional Open Stratch Bace—Won by Fred Sims, Washington; F. Barnaby, Boston, second; J. L. Ives, Baltimore, third: Bob Walthour, Atlanta, fourth. Gets the Decision Over the Philadelphian at the Greenwood A. C. Andy Walsh, the Brooklyn welterweight, got the decision over Charley Johnson of Philadelphia in a twenty-round bout at the Greenwood A. C. of Brooklyn last night. Johnson showed a wonderful capacity for taking punishment. For nineteen rounds he was veritable adamant against Walsh's continual pounding, but in the last round Walsh reached the vital spot, and there was not much left in Johnson when the round ended. Joe Ward was referee.

Mike Mulroy, a rejuvenated amateur of Brooklyn, and Jimmy Barnett of the same burg met in the first bout of ten rounds at 110 pounds. It lasted only 2 minutes and 30 secends, but in that short time Muiroy did everything but kick his man. He started off by mill fashion, but this sort of fighting just suited Barnett, and he soon had Mike weary with four straight rights on the law. Finding that the case was a hopeless one, Mulroy began biting and gouging, and the referee stopped the bout, giving the verdiet to Barnett. The second preliminary bout, another ten-round affair, brought together Jack Fox of Brooklyn and Walter Burgo of Manhattan at catchweights. From the way they pummelled might be a repetition of the preceding bout. ever, but at the end of the third round were pretty well used up. Fox then took it easy, but Burgo kept pegging away so persistently that in the eighth round he had Fox in bad shape. The crowd thought that the rounds were being cut short for Fox's benefit and hissed accordingly. Burgo made every effort to finish Fox in the last round, but was insuccessful. The referee called it a draw, although the crowd were almost unanimous in declaring in favor of Burgo.

There was a long delay before Walsh and Johnson, the principals in the final leut, appeared, and the crowd grew impatient. When the men got in the ring there was another hitch. Johnson wanted to box with one hand free, while Walsh wanted a clean break and no hitting in clinches. After a lot of wrangling it was finally agreed to break clean when ordered by the referee. Both men were in good condition and weighted in at 145 rounds. Walsh had Jack Downey, Tommy West, and Harry Fisher as his principal seconds, and Johnson's enief adviser was Tim Callahan. There was nittle or no betting on the result, as Walsh was considered by his admirers to be almost invincible since his twenty-round draw with "Mysterious" Billy Smith.

They lost no time in coming together. Walsh leading with his left for the body, but it fell short. His right visited Johnson s face a settle short. His right visited Johnson used his chow pretty freely and was cautioned by the referre. Walsh sent two heavy lefts to the body in the second round without getting any return. Then Andy tried for the jaw, but Johnson stopped him with a straight left that was a facer.

In the third round Walsh smashed his man repeatedly, finally foreing Charley to a corner. little or no betting on the result, as Walsh was Johnson. It was all Walsh's fight so far, but Johnson had plenty of strength left.

Walsh used his left with good judgment in the sixth round, inflicting considerable damage on Johnson and cutting his nose. Andy became carcless in the seventh round and left several openings which Johnson was not slow to take advantage of, and planted his right on the ribs. Johnson came out of his comatose state in the eighth round and took a hand in the proceedings. Walsh went at him, however, and Johnson relaxed to his old state of being a receiver for Walsh's continual pounding.

The ninth and tenth rounds were of the same order, one man doing the punching, while the other stood there and took it, coming up for more smilingly. Walsh landed several good lefts in the eleventh round, but Johnson offset this somewhat with a couple of straight left jabs. Walsh was fatigued from his efforts in the former rounds when he came up for the twelfth and his blows lacked steam. In the thirteenth round Johnson splis Walsh's eye with a straight left, and it bled freely. There was hardly a mark on Johnson, and he seemed to thrive on the pounding he was receiving. The men indulged in considerable repartee in this round, and a spectator yelled out:

"I know it," returned Johnson as he retired to his corner with his usual smile.

Walsh wasn't having things so much his own way now. It was give and take in the sixteenth round. Walsh's left was an important factor in the seventeenth round, Johnson forced the fighting in the eighteenth round, probably with the hope of landing a chance blow and retrieving his lost ground, but it availed him nothing. The final round was of the hurricans order. After landing twice on the stomach Walsh sent a terrific right-hand swing on the jow before the gong sounded. Walsh was declared the winner, which, of course, was a popular decision.

MINISTERS OPPOSE PUGILISM.

MINISTERS OPPOSE PUGILISM. They Win Over the Sheriff, and He Will Not

BUFFALO, Aug. 11 .- A letter from Sheriff Kilgallon promising to stop the Corbett-McCoy fight was read this afternoon at the ministers' meeting called to consider ways of bringing about that end. The Sheriff, who has been pursuing a non-committal course, was brought around by the Right Rev. James E. Quigley, around by the Right Hev. James E. Quigley, Roman Catholic Bishop of Buffalo, who wrote a letter asking him if he intended to permit the light to take place as a boxing contest under the law. The Sheriff's letter is as follows: Riour Rivy Sin: Your letter just to hand. I will not allow a principht in this county. This has alproposed contest is a prizefight. Therefore it will not take place in Eric county while I am Sheriff.

not take place in Erie county while I am Sheriff.

Annex Kitaillow.

The ministers, flity of whom were assembled, received this letter with cheers, and quickly turned into resolutions of congratulation and respect the stinging arraignment they were then preparing for the Sheriff. Now, according to the ministers resolutions, his stand is manly and must receive the support of all good elements in the community.

Fearing that the Sheriff might be wen over from this attitude, the ministers appointed a communities to wait on Gov. Black and acquaint him with the situation and the sentiment of Buffals and Erie county. Another committees will solunteer to assist District Attorney Kenesick in securing any evidence he may need on which to proceed against the fighters, and a third committee will raise money to carry on the crusade. Secretary Wilson of the Hawthorne Club to-night said:

"The fight will fake place just the same. We are within the law, and have been advised of our rights by the best counsel. We will not violate the law in any respect, but the match will take place as advertised. The building of the clubbones will go right shead."

International Chess.
